

COUNCILMEN BODIEN AND SUNDERMANN ARE ENDORSED BY DALY CITY VOTERS

The municipal election of 1932 has passed into history and the two incumbents, Councilmen Sundermann and Bodien, have been returned to office. Mr. Bodien led the field with 1,353 votes, and was followed by Mr. Sundermann, who held a narrow margin of thirteen votes over his nearest rival.

The campaign just concluded created greater interest than has been observed in local politics for many years, and it was generally expected that there would be a spirited contest.

The decision of the people returns to the City Council two capable and energetic members of our successful administration. Their re-election guarantees to the city a continuance of the progressive program which has been conducted at the City Hall for several years.

The success of Councilmen Sundermann and Bodien at the polls last Monday represents the people's approval and reward of consistent and loyal service. The excitement of a vigorous campaign has failed to develop serious criticism of either Councilman. We are delighted that they have received this vote of confidence and believe that their majorities would have been much larger but for certain misunderstandings in the minds of some of the people.

When two public servants have held elective office for twelve and eight years, respectively, and are able to win public permission for continued service, there is some good reason to account for the fact. To please all the people is impossible, although both men have done their best in this regard.

Now that the election is over, the way is open for the members of all parties to join forces in supporting the City Council in its endeavor to improve, uphold and develop Daly City. After the smoke of battle has disappeared and we settle down to normal conditions again, it should not be difficult to lay aside differences of opinion and unite for the welfare of all.

We have always expressed great confidence in our present city administration. We have followed their work with close interest for ten years and do not hesitate to state that they have given this city the best municipal service that has ever come to our attention. Some people have been led to criticize in the heat of contest, but we will welcome their friendly cooperation now that the decision has been rendered.

We view the result of the 1932 election as a vote of thanks to our city government for its achievements. We rejoice in the fact that the good judgment of our citizens refused to change the personnel of a governing body which has consistently moved forward. The experience of the past suggests the promise of the future, and the people are fully aware that progress and economy have worked hand in hand, planned and directed by the efficiency and wisdom of a well-balanced City Council.

We offer sincere congratulations to Councilmen Bodien and Sundermann, and also to the whole City Council. We know that the continued association of the five men who have made civic history here will keep Daly City in the front rank. We suggest to Mayor Smith that the

WHAT IS NEWS?

The policy of the Record was recently attacked in a political pamphlet, which suggested that all news was subject to outside censorship before it reached its columns, and insinuated that all news should be accepted by us without discrimination.

It is evident that those who were responsible for such a statement have changed their minds, as we have been approached with a request that we withhold publication of a rather scandalous local story. This request reached us through a friend of those involved, who had been asked to intercede in their behalf.

The report in question had come to our attention a few days ago and directly concerned certain persons who were active in a political organization recently formed in this city and who were reported to be responsible for criticisms of this paper.

This story, if printed, would have convinced some of our critics that it is not always desirable to print all the news, for it would have brought serious disgrace upon a local family and would have caused untold grief to a mother and great humiliation to a father.

We assure those concerned that it was not necessary to ask a friend to intercede to prevent the publication of such distressing news. We will continue to use our own good judgment as to what kind of publicity contributes to the general welfare of our community and the happiness of the people, and as to WHAT IS NEWS.

success of his colleagues at the polls constitutes a public testimonial to him as well as to them.

We trust that the result of the election will encourage the undisturbed Council to continue its excellent program. We realize that part of their job will be to repair the damage recently wrought by destructive criticism, but with the hearty co-operation of the people this should not be a difficult task.

The returns by precincts follows:

Precinct	Bodien	Chesney	Fahy	Rankin	Sundermann
A	172	102	93	34	163
B	177	202	213	58	160

G	180	42	78	55	149
Total	1353	1100	1201	562	1214

I sincerely appreciate the honor which has been bestowed upon me by the people of Daly City in choosing me to represent them on the City Council for another term. My hearty thanks are extended to all who assisted me during the campaign and at the polls. I will continue my best efforts to give them the most efficient service.

HENRY SUNDERMANN.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all my friends for their support during the recent campaign and at the election. It will be my aim during my third term to give practical expression to my gratitude by careful attention to the interests of the taxpayers of Daly City.

ARTHUR J. BODIEN.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NOTES OF INTEREST

On April 7, Albert Giusti, catcher for Woodrow Wilson, did not appear in the game scheduled for Crocker and Woodrow Wilson, and as a consequence Octavia Tolovi went in as a substitute. Tolovi filled the place very satisfactorily and after a well-played game, the score stood 5 to 4 in favor of Woodrow Wilson.

The Crocker Girls A team played Woodrow Wilson A team on the same day. Their game ended in a victory for Woodrow Wilson, the score being 27 to 6. Dorio De Vincenzi and Eleanor Hutchings of Woodrow Wilson proved to be splendid umpires.

Colma and Crocker boys were scheduled to meet on April 6. Colma forfeited the game to Crocker. Crocker then played Woodrow Wilson, but lost the match by a score of 11 to 7.

The Girls B team of Crocker met the Girls B team of Colma on April 6. Colma won by a score of 17 to 6.

Future events of the Jefferson schools will be scheduled soon. A team will be made up from the three schools, which will cross bats with the Jefferson High freshmen. A game which should arouse interest is scheduled with Lomita Park on April 16.

A combination Girls team of Jefferson District will meet Lomita Park Girls the same day on which the boys play.

The children in the art classes have been busy the past few weeks making posters to be entered in a contest sponsored by the Parent-Teachers' Association. Under the direction of Miss Rose Neilsen the children have earned out some very creditable work. A committee of mothers and teachers have selected the best from each school. The best from these were chosen and sent to San Mateo, where they were entered in competition with the work from other parts of San Mateo county.

A small prize will be given by the local chapter of the P. T. A. to the child making the best poster in each school of the Jefferson District.

The poster put out by Henry Moos, Low 8 Grade, was considered best at Woodrow Wilson.

LADIES HOME CLUB MEMBERS SELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR

The members of the Ladies Home Club met on Tuesday at the club house on Werner street, the President, Mrs. Lillian Landini, presiding. The same officers were nominated for another year, with Mrs. Stella Jensen nominated as historian. The welfare section spent the afternoon sewing for a worthy cause. On Tuesday, April 26, the members will hold their social day, with cards and refreshments featured on that day.

BOY SCOUT RALLY DECIDED SUCCESS

An example of what can be accomplished through the co-ordinated efforts of the San Francisco Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, of which Daly City District No. 11 is a part, was given to the people of Daly City last Friday evening, April 8, in the auditorium of the Jefferson Union high school, when the local Boy Scout units sponsored their first official rally.

Playing to a crowded house, the Boy Scouts demonstrated to the public that much benefit and learning can be received from the teachings of the Scout movement. The opening program consisted of the rolling of drums by the Camp Ryaneh drum corps in the form of an announcement, followed by the Scout band playing "El Capitán March." It is not only proper that we take time to remark on the ability of this wonderful band and their renditions of stirring marches and classical numbers. Much praise is due to the men who have so willingly given of their own time and experience to train a group of boys to such a degree of perfection.

City Councilman Arthur J. Bodien, chairman of the District Committee, in his introductory remarks, gave a brief resume of the activities of the local Scouts and explained to the audience the purpose of the rally. The Scout band then played four popular numbers. Several accordion solos and duets were played by Cubs Louis Spadia and Dante Mariana, of Pack 7. Hughie Houston, also of Pack 7, gave interesting interpretations of the Highland fling and the sword dance, being assisted at the bagpipes by Mr. John Brown.

One of the impressive features of the show was the Indian ceremonial and dance offered by Eagle Scout Clement Schnabel, bedecked in full Indian chief regalia. With the assistance of Mr. Raymond O. Hanson, Scout executive, Eagle Scout Schnabel conducted the installation of the District Committee. As each member's name was called he stepped forward and took his place in front of the stage. The Scoutmasters and Cubmasters were then called in line, whereupon the members repeated the Scout oath in unison.

Mrs. J. Jordan, President of the American Legion Auxiliary, Post No. 410, presented the District Committee with a beautiful hand worked banner, which was accepted by Mr. Arthur J. Bodien on behalf of the committee. Mr. Hanson gave a short description of the Scout movement and its functions, stating that the San Francisco Area Council considered it an honor to have the Daly City district affiliated with their area.

The pageant "Hands Across the Sea" was a colorful and well conducted act, with Scouts dressed in the native attire of each country they represented. Each Scout walked to the center of the stage, where he received the flag of his country while the band played the National Anthem of that particular nation. The finale was well arranged with the presentation of the American flag and the Goddess of Liberty escorted by two stalwart Scouts.

It is hoped that in the near future our own Scout and Cub units will be sufficiently advanced to give the peo-

CROWDS ATTEND TANFORAN RACES

A crowd as large as that which witnessed the running of the Spring Special is expected to throng Tanforan Saturday for the Bay Area Handicap, the second major race of the Pacific Coast Breeders Association's Spring meeting at the San Bruno track.

Twenty-six thousand racing fans, the largest crowd in the history of Tanforan, last Saturday cheered J. D. Mikel's Scimitar to victory in the afternoon's feature event. Scimitar, which staged a comeback to finish in front of Sidney Grant, Joe Flores and Dr. Freeland, is among the nineteen thoroughbreds nominated for the $2,000 added Bay Area Handicap.

The other three horses also are among those named to start in this Saturday's feature. Other nominees, comprising some of the best horses at Tanforan, are No More, Ervest, Gallant Sir, Good and Hot, Morpheus, Hillsborough, Golden Prince, Polydorus, Jim Dandy, Border Warrant, Wirt G. Bowman, Seth's Hope, Liolele, Durango and Bahamas.

The Oak Tree Stable's Bahamas is the horse that won the opening handicap.

An added thrill was afforded last Saturday's racegoers when Big Trail, J. Johnson's Kentucky bred three year old, galloped to victory over the A. B. Spreckels course to pay the record price of $306.30 on $3 options.

Pacific coast breeders were urged to greater achievements in the production of fast horses by Judge Joseph A. Murphy, one of the original officials at Tanforan, in a radio address this week. Judge Murphy cited the fact that the sire of Phar Lap, Australian "wonder horse" that recently died in Menlo Park after proving himself one of the greatest racers of the century, was a $500 horse.

CROCKER CHAPTER SPONSORS EASTER PARTY FOR CHILDREN

The Easter party held on Monday, April 4, in the Masonic Temple, was greatly enjoyed by all the children and parents present. The highlight of the evening was the entertainment given for the children, with many of the little ones taking part in the dancing and recitations. Refreshments, served in the banquet room, concluded a delightful evening, much to the credit of the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron, and will long live in the memory of those who attended. The Worthy Matron, Anna Neff, entertains the members of the Sewing Circle at her home on Sixteenth avenue, on Thursday, at 12:30. Those attending will have an enjoyable afternoon.

County Tax Collector A. McSweeney announces that the second installment of taxes become delinquent on Wednesday, April 20, at 5 o'clock P. M. The delinquent date is now fixed by law and will always be April 20 of each year, not the last Monday in April as heretofore. Kindly make your remittance accordingly. The county tax collector's office will be open Saturday afternoon until 5 o'clock.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES OF INTEREST

The next meeting of Daly City Post No. 410, American Legion, will be held on Friday evening, April 22, at Eagles Hall. This meeting will be brief and will start promptly at 8 o'clock, for the social committee is planning to hold another Legion dance that evening. "Doc" and his haywire orchestra will furnish the music. Bring your friends, they'll enjoy the evening.

When the big U. S. dirigible Akron drops anchor at the new Sunnyvale base this month, Mountain View Post will be on the job. It has secured parking space for 4,500 autos, facing the mooring mast, where for a nominal fee to the Post you can park and sit in comfort to view the landing of the big gas bag.

The World War veterans act provides that a flag to drape the casket shall be furnished for the funerals of all veterans not dishonorably discharged, and that the flag shall therefore be given to the next of kin of the deceased veteran. In the event that a flag is not given to the next of kin, it must be returned to the Veterans' Administration, and can not become the property of a Legion Post or other service organizations.

On Saturday evening, April 16, the American Legion Post in South San Francisco will give a dance. Daly City Post's haywire orchestra will furnish the music. The South City Legion boys will be glad to see you that evening.

Comrade Sorenson, popular Legion commander of Belmont Post, was elected councilman for San Carlos, last Monday, leading the other five candidates.

LOCAL RESIDENTS INJURED IN CRASH

Last Sunday night a fire truck, Engine 2, driven by Frank Steubel, struck the rear of two automobiles which were stopped for a traffic signal at Twenty-ninth and Mission streets in San Francisco, injuring six people.

Mrs. F. Woodhouse, who conducts Ethel's Beauty Parlor at 99 Wellington avenue, who was riding in the machine driven by Joseph Feyes, also of Wellington avenue, received severe lacerations of the legs.

Feyes was also injured. Occupants of the other car, residents of San Francisco, received serious injuries.

The fire truck driven by Steubel was responding to a false alarm at Precita avenue and Folsom streets.

According to the police, the truck struck the rear of the two automobiles which were stopped for a traffic signal. Although rescuers had no difficulty in removing the injured, a wrecking crew was necessary to separate the vehicles.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL WINS HIGH HONORS

A news article entitled "No Annual Decision of Faculty; Not Enough Subscription Money," appearing in the February 17 issue of the Totem Pole editor, carried off second prize honors for the best straight news story written in preparatory school papers in the state during the past year, at a convention of high school journalists held at the University of California on April 7, 8, and 9.

Approximately 350 delegates representing about 70 different high schools in California attended the convention, which was sponsored by the Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic society. All of these schools submitted articles and papers to the convention for rating. Palo Alto, another peninsula high school, won the first prize for the best news story, giving the peninsula high school papers a good record for the quality of work done, with first and second prize.

During the course of the convention, the delegates attended several round-table conferences during which the subjects of journalism and news writing in general were discussed. Several prominent characters in journalistic circles of the Bay region were present at these conferences, including Wood Soanes, dramatic editor of the Oakland Tribune, Roy Cummings, sports writer on the Call-Bulletin staff, and Eddie Boyden, star reporter of the same paper.

"Dinty" Doyle, radio editor of the Post-Enquirer, J. P. Knowland, publisher and owner of the Oakland Tribune, and Mrs. Nancy Barr Mavity, author of several journalistic books and novels, were the principal speakers at three different luncheons held on the roof of the Stephens Union building.

The convention lasted for three days, during which the delegates were housed in the many sorority and fraternity houses of the colleges. Paul Green, James Kennedy, and James Martin stayed at the Sigma Chi house while Rose Atkins and Irene Twisten were guests at the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, where Miss Burfield stayed while in college.

During the evenings, the delegates were guests at several campus activities.

Jefferson High is also proud of the honors won by two of its graduates in the field of higher education. On last Friday evening Edna Mary Smith and Evelyn Rose Smith, both of the class of 1927, graduated from Armstrong College of Business Administration, Berkeley, California, and were two of the five winning highest honors in a class of seventy-five graduates.

Evelyn completed her course earlier in the year and is now teaching in the Gonzales Union high school. Edna remained in college and will receive not only the California State teaching credential but the degree of Master of Arts as well.

This splendid record reflects credit upon the Jefferson Union high school, where both of these young women received their preparatory education, and is in keeping with the record of high scholarship maintained by them throughout their four years in high school.

The faculty of Jefferson Union high school predicts for both of these young women a highly successful career in the teaching profession, and extends to them congratulations because of the honors they have already won. They are the daughters of our honored Mayor H. H. Smith. To him and Mrs. Smith also Jefferson High extends heartiest congratulations upon the success of their daughters.

Gladys Conti, Robert Cota, Marian Hackley, Rose Merlo, and Katherine Parodi are the seniors who will speak at graduation. A committee of the faculty and Mr. Ferguson so decided at a recent meeting in his office.

There will no valedictorian because those students who are to speak have very little difference in their scholastic standing. Albert Boynton, as president, will represent the senior class on the program.

"A GREAT CHURCH" TO BE PRESBYTERIAN SERMON TOPIC

Rev. John R. Stevenson, of Grace Presbyterian church, will preach at the 11 o'clock hour on Sunday morning, taking for his subject, "A Great Church." The church is located at Hanover and Evergreen. In the evening he will speak on "The Ananias Club; How to Become a Member." Evening service commences 7:45. On Sunday morning, April 24, the Anzaes, the Australian and New Zealand veterans of the World War who are located in the Bay region, will hold a Commemoration Service in Grace Church. This is the first occasion of such a service in the Bay region and the local public is cordially invited to attend this service, of which a further announcement will be made later.

CALIFORNIA NEWS REVIEW

The State Board of Forestry has completed the planting of 2068 trees on State owned land in the vicinity of Mt. Zion, Amador county. The trees planted are cedars, redwood and pine. "It so happens," said State Forester Pratt, "that we have comparatively little land so there has been little opportunity for us to practice what we preach about tree planting."

One thousand square miles of the San Joaquin-Sacramento Valley region have been photographed from the air as the final practical test of the experimental five-lens camera recently developed for army air corps use. In addition to proving the practicability of the camera for mapping purposes, the 9000 negatives taken will be utilized by the Coast and Geodetic Survey in its large scale map of this region now under preparation.

Differences involving overlapping land permits and the disposition of a water conduit owned by the Southern California Edison Company in the path of the county's proposed new $10,000,000 dam to be built in San Gabriel Canyon on site No. 1, were amicably and successfully removed at a conference between officials of the utility company, the city of Pasadena and the county flood-control district. The principal points discussed were land permits affecting one of the county's new dams, the dam which the city of Pasadena proposes to build, and the Edison conduit. It was agreed that both dams can be built far enough apart without one interfering with the other. The flood-control district also will build a tunnel at the county's dam site which will combine the facilities of an outlet for the dam and a conduit for the Edison company to supply their Azusa plant with water.

Repetition of the Jackson mine disaster, which shocked the country in 1922, and resulted in the deaths of 48 workers, became a remote possibility as linkage of the Argonaut and Kennedy gold mines at their low levels was rushed to completion. On order of the Industrial Accident Commission a substantially braced tunnel, to be provided with every safety appliance, is being driven through the hundred feet of earth and rock which separate the 4800 foot level of the Kennedy and the 5650 level of the Argonaut, to provide a means of escape in the event of disaster in either mine. The new escape tunnel will be so strongly constructed that it will protect from collapse, water or noxious gases. Several hundred men employed in the mines will be safeguarded.

"There is no license plate, letter or card of identification issued that is known to the California Highway Patrol exempting anyone from compliance with the law or making them immune to arrest for violations." This was the statement read to the Board of Directors of the Traffic Safety Commission from E. Raymond Cato, chief of the Highway Patrol, at a special meeting of the group held recently. Having received statements or contradiction with respect to law enforcement, to time regarding the presence of a license plate that carried with it exemption from the law, the Commission asked the chief's opinion in the matter. "For some unknown reason to this office some citizens have advanced the theory of being exempted from the regulations of the law," stated Cato in his letter. "May I emphatically state that there is no such thing. I trust that this will set at rest any doubt you or your organization may have with respect to the sincerity of this administration from various citizens from time to time."

Planting more than 11,000,000 baby salmon in the streams of the state has just been completed, it was announced by the Fish and Game Commission. The salmon were brought from the Mt. Shasta hatchery, the largest in the world, owned and managed by the State. In the Klamath River, one of the greatest streams in the world, 7,250,000 fish were planted, and 3,960,000 were planted in the Sacramento. The commission is also completing plans for restoring the small mouth bass in California streams. Under the direction of Dr. J. O. Snyder, Stanford University professor, who has been given leave of absence to work for the commission, a new hatchery is being constructed in Fresno County. The bass will be taken from the streams where they are now found to the new hatching ground, and it is expected that 45,000 small fish will be planted late this summer. Dr. Snyder is being assisted in this work by Dr. Embury of the United States bureau of fisheries. The commission last year planted 33,000,000 young trout in the streams of the state, the records show. The bass will be planted in the Russian River, lower Feather, low elevation lakes and other non-trout streams.

Clem Jones, veteran Orland rancher, advises snakes as the most effective exterminator of rats, squirrels and other pests. Jones has a dozen garter and bull snakes. "They are very friendly pets, and I pick them up and carry them about at will," he said.

Two local junior high school newspapers, Junior Hi-Ways of John Muir and Burr-Briefs of John Burroughs, were awarded first and second prizes, respectively, in competition with more than 1200 school publications from all over the United States, sponsored by Columbia University, according to word received at Burbank.

Town lots in Ventura county carry mortgages, delinquent taxes and other nuisances for their owners, but they are not infested with the citrus white fly. County Agricultural Commissioner A. H. Call announced that a comprehensive survey of all these lots conducted by five members of his staff and one State man has now been completed, with no sign of the pest coming to light.

Community advertising and natural advantages have been the magnets that pulled 2,577,000 persons out of other States and into California, says Californians, Inc. The figures are based on a study of the Federal census. By comparison, Florida developed less than one-fifth of California's appeal, and has, in consequence, only 501,875 persons from other states living within her borders. The figures also show that Californians have a tendency to stay at home, only 8.3 per cent having moved to other states.

Upon receipt of an order from the Bureau of Naval Operations at Washington, it was announced at the Eleventh Naval District headquarters that this year's annual 15-day cruise for fleet Naval Reserve units had been cancelled. Economy was the reason given for elimination of the actual sea training for the Navy's "second line" personnel. The order from Washington stated all fifteen-day cruises had been cancelled. The elimination, however, did not include week-end cruises nor apply to active training for reserves in the Naval Aviation Division.

Foundations for the $75,000,000 San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge are no longer a problem. The bottom of the bay, Yerba Buena island and the approach terrain at either end are more than adequate to support the great structure, according to Charles H. Purcell, chief engineer of the project. In a report to Colonel Walter E. Garrison, director of the State Department of Public Works, which will build the bridge, Purcell says that while there are six drillings to bedrock to be completed for the central anchorage structure, borings completed and pressure tests made have shown beyond any doubt there is a safe foundation.

Indicating economical administration of governmental business in Berkeley, a report was made public recently, based on statistics compiled by the League of California Municipalities, showing that Berkeley has one of the lowest per capita tax costs of any city in California. Berkeley's cost with a population of 82,000 is $14.45 per capita, the lowest for any California city except San Jose with a population of 60,000 and a cost of $12 and Glendale with 63,000 inhabitants and a cost of $14. The figures do not include school costs but deal with the actual costs of administering all other phases of the city's business.

Governor Rolph, guest at the Kellogg Arabian Horse Ranch at Pomona, where he was presented with a thoroughbred stallion, was told by W. K. Kellogg, the owner, that he intends to present the ranch and the horses, together with an endowment for their maintenance, to some department of the State government to perpetuate the breeding of Arabian horses in California. "This plan is still in a formative state, however," said the Governor, "and we only discussed in a tentative way the possibilities of such generosity. Mr. Kellogg has evinced a desire to contribute to the welfare of California, and we as Californians welcome him to our Commonwealth."

Taxes paid by Californians have increased to a point that is "alarmingly out of line with income," it was stated in an analysis of the situation prepared by the California State Chamber of Commerce. In 1930, the statement says, the total taxes paid in the State, Federal taxes included, was $597,818,000, while in 1915 it was $111,118,000. The per capita was $105.90 in 1930, compared to $37.55 in 1915, or an increase of 182.02 per cent. The increase in taxes in this period was greater than the increase in population, which was 90.5 per cent, or 2,960,000 in 1915 and 5,639,000 in 1930. Of the total taxes those covering local demands, city and county, were the greatest, $343,400,000 in 1930, an increase from $77,559,000 in 1915. State taxes increased from $20,400,000 to $104,500,000, and Federal from $13,129,000 to $149,288,000. "In 1930 the basic income of California was $2,586,045,000," the statement said, "and taxes were $597,818,000 or about 23 per cent of income. While complete figures are not available it is estimated that this year the proportion of taxes collected will rise to just under one-third of basic income. Total taxes will be reduced to approximately $500,000,000, but total income as finally compiled for 1931 will drop about $1,000,000,000 to around $1,500,000,000."

George M. Stout, State Veterans Welfare Board secretary, has announced the last $3,000,000 block of 4 1/2 per cent veterans welfare bonds will be offered for sale early in May. Expenditure of these funds will automatically bring State purchase of homes and farms for former service men to a standstill.

All of the sleep, work, and play of the little patients is mapped out for them.

STORY FOR BEDTIME

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Oh, who shall say to the king, "Nay, nay?"
Not I! Not I!
Oh, who shall refuse the king his way?
Not I! Not I!
For the king is great and the king is strong.
And the king, you know, can do no wrong.

AT LEAST that is the way kings themselves seem to think. Too often they think that might makes right. You and I know better. But kings, poor things, never have had the advantages that we have. Too often they never have learned to do things for themselves, because they never have had to do things for themselves. They simply command that things be done for them. And so, because they have this power to command, they too often have come to think that they have a right to command anything that they please. They cannot understand that other people have rights.

It is some times this way with King Eagle. He likes fish, but he never has learned to catch them for himself. So because he likes fish and wants fish and is big enough and strong enough, he feels that he has a perfect right to take them from Plunger the Fish Hawk, and that Plunger should gladly give them up at his demand because he is the king. If he were not the king, I suspect he would be called just a plain robber. But no one thinks of calling the king a robber—that is, no one but Plunger.

When fishing is good and Plunger can catch plenty without half trying, he doesn't much mind giving up a few to King Eagle. He may grumble a little but that is all. But when, as on this particular morning, he has fished patiently for a long time without catching a single fish, and then when he is almost ready to give up, does catch a fine, big fat fish, he thinks it rather too much to have King Eagle suddenly appear and demand that fish. So Plunger made up his mind that he would not give it up until he absolutely had to. In spite of King Eagle's orders to drop it.

Now, Plunger the Fish Hawk is a wonderful flyer but, wonderful as he is, King Eagle is a still more wonderful flyer, and Plunger knows it. In spite of this he did his best to out-fly King Eagle. But the fish was big and heavy, and so of course Plunger could not fly his best. He dodged this way and that way, mounted high in the air and dropped suddenly, all the time working toward the Green Forest. But all the time King Eagle kept right with him without half trying, actually flapping his great wings in Plunger's very face, and all the time commanding Plunger to drop that fish. Plunger was about ready to give up when Mrs. Plunger arrived to help him. She flew in King Eagle's way and did her very best to interfere, all the time screaming at King Eagle and calling him a robber and thief and everything bad she could think of. She was trying to make King Eagle so angry that he would leave Plunger alone and try to punish her.

But King Eagle is altogether too smart to be fooled in any such way as that. He knew exactly what she was trying to do, and he paid no attention to her except to threaten her with his great claws when she ventured too near. He wanted that big fat fish and he meant to have it. At first he was simply mildly threatening. He did not want to hurt Plunger. Not that he cared particularly for Plunger. He didn't. His reason for not wanting to hurt Plunger was purely selfish, I suspect. He wanted that particular fish, but he would want more fish in the future, and if he hurt Plunger and disabled him, who would catch those fish for him in the future? So his whole idea was merely to frighten Plunger into dropping that fish.

"Stop Fooling and Drop That Fish!" Hissed King Eagle.

Plunger knew this, for Plunger is no fool, and so he held on and hoped with all his might that King Eagle would lose patience and give up. And at last King Eagle did lose patience, but with no intention of giving up. He began to lose his temper. Plunger saw a sudden change in the fierce eyes

THE MARKET PLACE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

TO THE market place of men Comes a buyer now and then With his purse of yellow gold, Money-wise and money-bold. Bright the money, brisk the trade, And the buyer, rich arrayed, Jingles, jingles ev'rywhere Gold to make the people stare.

"First, a woman. What's the price?"
"Love, and then love's sacrifice."
"Are not some not bought with love?"
"Yes, not worth the buying of."
"I would have a child, a son."
"Do you know the price of one?"
"No." "The price that you must pay Leaves you lonely, old and gray."

So he goes from booth to booth, Finding some things bought with truth.

Some with kindness, oft in vain, Some with sorrow, some with pain, Some with patience, some with pray'r— Not a single treasure there Bought with anything as cold And as poor as yellow gold.

Tiered Skirts Popular for the Evening Frock

Back interest still characterizes many of the new evening frocks, although most of them show little back above the waistline. But the intricate strappings that mark and make the back décolletage and the bows at the waistline are very interesting and almost make the frock.

This season there will be many flounced, ruffled or tiered skirts done in the manner of Worth and much liked by women always. The ruffled skirt gives a soft look that is most attractive, especially for the younger woman, by whom it should be worn.

Printed Crepes

Printed silks and cotton crepes are coming back into vogue, but cautiously. Paris has turned a cold shoulder on prints, but American designers are using them for sleeves on black crepe dresses and for vestees, gilets, or boleros.

He's Gone to Measure Cosmic Rays

PROF. ARTHUR H. COMPTON of the University of Chicago has started on a journey that will take him to the mountain ranges of Panama, Peru, New Zealand, Australia, Hawaii and Alaska and on many peaks he will try to measure the intensity of cosmic rays with the instrument with which he is here seen. The device consists of a steel "ionization chamber" containing argon. Around the chamber are spheres of lead and copper weighing 200 pounds. Through these walls of metal no other but "cosmic rays" can penetrate. The effect of the rays will be to set up an electric current in the argon. This current will be measured with an electrometer.

FAMOUS KIDNAPINGS

The kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby has recalled many other similar crimes, a number of which baffled all efforts to apprehend the kidnapers or find a trace of the stolen children. Among them are these:

Charlie Ross, stolen in Germantown, Pa., in 1874.

Catherine Winters, kidnaped in Newcastle, Ind., in 1913.

Jimmy Glass, abducted in Jersey City in 1915.

Billy Gaffney, kidnaped in Brooklyn in 1927.

Children kidnaped and known to have been killed include the following:

Lloyd Kent, of Springfield, Mo., in 1917.

Billy Dansey, of New Jersey, in 1919.

Bobby Franks, of Chicago, in 1924, for whose murder Loeb and Leopold are serving a life sentence.

Marian Parker, of Los Angeles, for whose abduction and murder in 1927 William Hickman was executed.

Marian McLean, kidnaped and killed in Cincinnati in 1931, her murderer having confessed after capture.

In a number of cases kidnaped children were restored to their parents unharmed, sometimes after payment of ransom.

Several of the cases mentioned created nation-wide interest, but no kidnaping in the world's history has inspired such universal indignation against the perpetrators, or such sincere sympathy for the parents as has the abduction of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.

THE FRIENDS OF DEPRESSION

Idle dollars are the best friends of depression.

They do no one good. Stuck away in strong boxes—or socks—they are entirely worthless. They are unable to do their bit in carrying on the financial work of the world. They are a sign of fear, of a hysterical kind of conservatism that mistakes hoarding for thrift.

True thrift is a fine thing. It is the source of the money that builds plants, buys and operates machinery, employs men, keeps the wheels of industry going.

As a recent advertisement said: "The opportunity to earn a return on investment is better today than for years. Banks pay interest on deposits regularly. Sound securities earn, and pay, a regular, safe income."

The hoarder is cheating himself—of greater importance, he is cheating

SCIENTIFIC HONORS

Among the scientific honors accorded annually for distinguished accomplishments in research and invention, a goodly share went this year to members of the General Electric Company's staff, four of whom were given high recognition, as follows:

Edwin W. Rice, 69, honorary chairman and former president, the Edison medal, for the development of electric systems and his encouragement of scientific research in industry.

William D. Coolidge, 58, research department, the Washington medal, for building high-powered X-ray tubes and for "devoted service in advancing human progress."

Irving Langmuir, 51, research department, the Popular Science $10,000 prize for the invention of the gas-filled incandescent lamp, which is estimated to save a million dollars a night on the nation's electric bill; also for the invention of hydrogen arc welding, and for many researches in physics and chemistry.

Guiseppe Faccioli, 54, research consultant, the Lammé medal for outstanding contributions in the field of electric power transmission, including the handling of high voltage current.

It has been through the patient labors of these and a host of other scientists that the electric industry has made the amazing progress witnessed in recent years. They are nobly carrying on the work in which the great Edison was the most distinguished pioneer.

us all. He is prolonging unemployment, profitless prices, the accumulation of goods for which there is no market because people have no money to buy. He is, in the full sense of the word, anti-social.

This is worth remembering: Idle dollars are the best friend of depression.

A home town booster declares that Philadelphia has more wealth per capita than any other city. Maybe it will some day be rich enough to afford another Sesqui-Centennial exposition.

First a boy adores his mother, then his teacher, and finally grows up and wants to marry Peggy Joyce.

What the League of Nations needs in the Far Eastern game is an umpire who can make decisions stick.

Nearly everybody knows the saxophone was invented by Adolphe Sax, but no one seems to know why.

FREAKS OF A TORNADO

Tornadoes are the most freakish of storms, and those which brought death to more than 300 victims in Alabama and other southern states recently were no exception. Many seemingly miraculous escapes occurred as well as odd incidents, such as the following:

Near Birmingham a 22-month-old baby, Jewell Butler, was torn from her mother's arms and carried nearly ten miles, yet was unharmed save for a few bruises.

Two little negro boys were blown across the Warrior river at Demopolis and landed in a field uninjured.

Two persons hurt at Clanton were taken for treatment to Thorsby, where another twister struck the physician's office just as they arrived, but they were not further injured.

An amusing freak of the storm was the wrapping of a quilt tightly around a rooster and depositing the helpless bird high in the limbs of a tree.

A strange phenomenon was seen when a second tornado struck a section of Alabama and for a considerable distance closely followed the path of the first, which had occurred about a week before.

The most destructive single tornado in history was that which struck St. Louis, May 27, 1896, killing 306 persons and destroying 13 million dollars' worth of property in half an hour. The recent series of tornadoes in the South took a slightly higher toll of life, in several separate storms occurring about the same time.

FARMERS' STRAW VOTE

In view of the agitation for abolishment of the Farm Board, the Nebraska Farmer, published by Samuel R. McKelvie, himself a former member of the board, recently took a straw vote to see how the farmers themselves felt about it.

Ballots were printed in the periodical, asking readers to say whether they desired the Agricultural Marketing Act (Farm Board) left as it is, or amended, or repealed. Of 126 ballots returned, only 6 were for leaving the law as it is; 19 were for amendment, and 101 advocated repeal.

The same readers voted 54 to 32 against the proposed equalization fee; 52 to 26 against the debenture plan, while a majority of 44 to 38 said Congress should leave the farmers alone entirely.

Commenting on the result, the Nebraska Farmer said: "The small number of replies rather clearly reflects the lack of farmers' faith in the value of legislation of any character to cure the economic ills of agriculture."

Commenting on the result, the Nebraska Farmer said: "The small number of replies rather clearly reflects the lack of farmers' faith in the value of legislation of any character to cure the economic ills of agriculture."

It seems that the Farm Board has few supporters anywhere except among those on its payroll and on the payrolls of its affiliated marketing organizations. Its excursions into the cotton and grain market have cost the taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars, with no benefit to anyone except the high-salaried job holders.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Okla.
That the majority of the people are conservative is true, but this trait of conservatism should not blind them to the importance of buying the things they need at the present time. A dollar will now buy more and better things than ever before. Just glance through the advertising columns of the newspaper and see what bargains you can get. Just as soon as this depression, caused by the economy scare, is over, you won't get so much for your money. Read the ads and buy what you need now.

It's just too bad that in this day and time some towns are afflicted with some distorters of the truth—citizens who have no better judgment than to say all the mean things they can about the home town by finding some fancied faults and, with a vivid imagination, enlarging on them. These men should be stunned with the very picture they draw and their own picture hanged with their faces to the wall.

It occurs to me that the different governments should turn elsewhere than to gasoline for new revenue. Automobiles are no longer a luxury, but a necessity. Few people in these days use their cars for pleasure alone, and any extra tax must fall most heavily upon the man of moderate means. Today the city man and the farmer are compelled to use his automobiles to go about their daily business. In the same way, schools are not built on every corner. He must pay more for the transportation of his children if the tax is raised. Raising taxes on gasoline is hitting directly at every person, rich or poor.

Adequately supported newspapers are the most popular agencies for community development.

There is desirable business everywhere for the firms who go after it and bring it in by the aid of newspaper advertising.

An inferior complex is what causes a fellow to throw down the best hand in a poker game.

A successful leader is one who can guess which way the crowd wants to go.

TRAVEL IN COLOMBIA

Perhaps no country in the world affords such varied means of transportation as Colombia, where the traveler may get about by methods ranging from mule-back to airplane, and including boat, train, auto and aerial cable.

From the Caribbean ports of Santa Marta, Cartagena and Barranquilla tourists can fly direct to Bogota, the capital, over 700 miles of thick jungle through which the Spanish "conquistadores" made their weary way in the 16th century. This flight is made by one of the safest plane systems in the world, the Scadta, operated for the last ten years by German pilots without a single accident to passengers on regular flights. Or, they may take a longer route by stern-wheel river boats up the Magdalena to Honda, and thence by train and auto to Bogota.

From the Pacific side, disembarking from the Grace line at Buenaventura, the trip to the capital is made by train and auto, one point on the way reaching an altitude of 14,000 feet in the Andes. For side trips into the great prairies beyond, mules are used.

But the most novel trip of all is that by aerial cables jumping across space and transporting coffee and passengers 72 kilometres from Manizales to the Magdalena river. These carry tiny cars swinging from 13 to 200 feet above ground and traveling only four and a half miles an hour. But slow as this seems, it isn't so bad. On foot one would do well to make four and a half miles in a whole day in that type of country.

SUCCESS OF HUMBUGS

In our optimistic moments we sometimes think the world is becoming civilized. We like to believe that the age of superstition is past, or at least rapidly passing. But a calm survey of some things that are going on must convince us that the supposedly human race is still composed largely of credulous boobies.

Among countless examples which might be cited in support of this statement, the amazing popularity and almost incredible financial prosperity of certain alleged astrologers, even in this period of national distress, may be mentioned.

Just now, the nation's favorite astrologer is Evangeline Adams, who dispenses her magic over a number of radio stations three times a week. According to a writer in the Christian Century, Miss Adams is seriously consulted by leaders in the business and political world, who seek to advance their interests by availing themselves of her wisdom, gained by a study of the stars.

Many otherwise reputable newspapers carry departments in which self-styled astrologers predict the future of their readers in response to questions submitted. Usually a more elaborate "reading" is offered for a suitable fee. Thus a large section of the metropolitan press is aiding and abetting the most flagrant species of charlatanism which now exploits a gullible public.

P. T. Barnum, the great showman, once attributed his success to the fact that the public likes to be humbugged. And Barnum was right.

Enthusiasm is what causes us to start a lot of things we can't finish.

OLD RAILROAD QUILTS

After 100 years of service the oldest passenger carrying railroad in the United States will quit business, according to the United Press. It is the Pontchartrain line, five miles long, between Pontchartrain and Milneburg, La.

With its discontinuance, the ancient little locomotive "Smoky Mary," brought from England in 1832, will also go out of commission. It is said that in all its 100 years of operation no passengers have ever been killed on the line.

Other distinctions claimed for the road: It is the only one to operate for a century under the name given in its original charter; the first line in the world to use a raised platform for the handling of freight; the only passenger line to operate without dispatchers or trainmasters.

There is also a story to the effect that in the old days it was the custom to attach sails to the train when the wind was favorable, in order to give it added speed and at the same time economize on fuel.

MORE AMERICAN SHIPS

The launching of the five million dollar Grace Line steamer, Santa Rosa at Kearny, N. J., on March 24, had a greater significance than merely another ship going down to the sea. It carried a substantial proof of America's continued progress—for the Santa Rosa is but the forerunner of a great fleet of ships, 45 new ones and 19 reconconditioned ones, which will shortly carry the American flag over the Seven Seas.

This revival has resulted from the Merchant Marine act of 1928 and is one of the happy events in an otherwise depressing period of American history.

The Santa Rosa is the first of four ships to be built for the Grace Line's service between New York, Cuba, Mexico, Panama, Nicaragua, South American ports and California. She will be followed shortly by the Santa Paula, the Santa Elena and the Santa Louisa.

The new vessel is 508 feet long, 70 feet wide, displaces 8,000 tons and has accommodations for 225. Private baths are in every stateroom and the ship has outdoor swimming pools with illuminated depths, bordered by a palm enclosed terrace where passengers sip cool drinks as they enjoy the water sports.

The christening was attended by many notables, including the governors of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Massachusetts. And President Hoover touched a button in Washington, flashing a signal to release the great ship down the run, and also sent a message of congratulation to the owners and builders.

A Philadelphia newspaper says the prohibition question is taxing our best minds. Well, why not? Everything else is taxed.

With patented Floating Power engine mountings—with many other highly important engineering developments—

Chrysler has created an entirely different kind of performance.

And the driving—it's really wonderful. It's the way these Chryslers are engineered. It's what they have that other cars don't have. That makes the big difference. Drive a mile in a Chrysler and you won't spend a minute thinking of any other choice.

'BACK TO GOOD TIMES' MOVEMENT DISCUSSED

"Two years ago we were trying to jolly ourselves with Pollyanna platitudes. Last year we became realistic and faced the facts. This year we are still realistic with no false hopes nor wild fancies, but with a new and solid courage.

"There are real indications of a better prospect for the future."

This was the keynote sounded by Chester H. Rowell, distinguished editor and authority on world affairs in the third of the weekly radio programs on the "Back to Good Times" campaign of the Bank of America. The broadcast was over Stations KGO and KFI from the San Francisco studio of NBC.

"The purpose of the 'Back to Good Times' movement is to remind the people of the real indications of a better prospect for the future and the part which each one can do toward helping everybody by helping yourself," said Rowell.

Rowell referred to statistics of improved prices and markets, the decrease of unemployment, the betterment of the banking situation and the general better feeling.

"These are all important, but they are merely the external symptoms of a deeper condition which is more encouraging," he added. "When we look back on last year its most striking feature is the calamities which the world so narrowly escaped.

"Practically every country in South America changed its government by revolution in reaction against hard time. Times are still hard in that part of the world, but nobody is trying to improve them by revolution.

"Germany frightened the world last year, but this year has just voted for Hindenburg, solidarity and safety. Last year national panic began in Austria, spread to Germany, then to England, and finally menaced for a brief time the financial structure of America.

"This year, so far, there has not even been a hint of any situation so serious in any corner of the world."

Rowell charged that the two weeks' delay last year on the part of France in agreeing to the Hoover moratorium undid much of the good of it and brought the whole European system close to the danger point.

"This year the second chapter of that situation is being discussed at leisure with no sense of emergency or danger," Rowell continued. "Last year nations all over the world went off the gold standard. This year none are proposing to do so and some are preparing to get back to it.

"Last year some of the great central banks handling the finances of nations were close to the danger point. This year no one even suspects them of unsoundness.

"Since all of these things did not happen last year and have not happened this, the superficial contrast may not seem so great, but the difference between their almost happening one year and there being no fear of their happening next is fundamental.

"We now know that prosperity is not around the corner but up the hill, and that the hill can only be climbed by all of us marching up it together. Under the leadership of President Hoover money is coming back to the banks. The more rapidly it comes back the safer it will be. Money in the stocking or the box is idle money, and if there were too much of it, it would not even be safe money. Money in the bank is living, working money. It flows through business channels of the community, improving conditions.

"The immediate thing each person can do is to put his money to its best possible use. If he can spare that money to spend it for the things he needs. If he can not afford to spend it now, he should deposit it in the bank. California's banks are sound and money in them is safe. If the people will do their part the banks can do theirs, and there is every indication that they will do so."

An exhibition of the work of Thomas Nast at the Whitney Museum of American Art recently recalled the genius of this greatest of all political cartoonists. Born in Germany in 1840, Nast came to America at the age of 6 and began cartooning for Leslie's at $4 a week when he was 15. Nast originated the well known figures of Uncle Sam, the Tammany tiger, the Republican elephant, and the Democratic donkey. His work contributed largely to the breaking up of the corrupt Tweed ring in New York. He died in 1902 of yellow fever while serving as U. S. consul at Guayaquil, Ecuador.

"Have you ever done a lick of work?" demanded the angry housewife of the tramp.

"Lady," he retorted, "if you think asking dames like you for a bite to eat ain't work you don't know what work is."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

OBEY TRAFFIC SIGNS SAFETY EFFORT URGES

Proper regard by motorists for street and highway traffic signs and for the laws and ordinances they represent is announced by the California Committee on Public Safety as the subject of a state-wide campaign to be conducted throughout the month of April. The effort is part of a year round program of activity by the committee for the furtherance of traffic safety. Each month is devoted to a particular phase of safe driving regulations, which are emphasized by the committee through educational work among motorists and with the co-operation of civic groups and traffic authorities. "Watch Signs—Avoid Fines," is the slogan for April.

Senator Arthur H. Breed of Oakland, chairman of the committee and a director of the California State Automobile Association, in a statement announcing the April campaign, commented as follows:

"Traffic signs are installed not only for the information they convey, but also for the purpose of regulating traffic in an orderly and safe manner. In order that these signs may serve the purpose for which they are erected it is necessary that motorists shall be on the alert for them and regulate their actions accordingly. It is just as important for motorists to watch for and obey these signs as it is for a locomotive engineer to be guided by the signals that are maintained for the safe operation of trains.

"Signs are not installed unless it has first been determined by governmental bodies having jurisdiction that a need exists for the signs contemplated. Signs cannot be installed except in strict accordance with the provisions of the California Vehicle Act.

"Stop signs, therefore, express a legal mandate to the motorist and indicate that it is unlawful to proceed past them without first coming to a full stop. Failure on the part of motorists to do this is not only a violation of the law but is a dangerous practice which often results in serious accidents."

ver standard of coinage have seen their purchasing power drop away to a fraction of its former level—leaving them with no money to buy in countries which have the gold standard. These latter countries thus lose the foreign trade which, a few years back, kept a multitude of factories going and provided employment, in whole or in part, for millions of workers.

Efforts are being made, on an international scale, to stabilize the price of silver and give it a proper relation to the value of gold. These efforts, if they succeed, will benefit the entire world—silver standard countries and gold standard countries alike. Because of that, they deserve the support of the officials and the general public of all nations.

—This statement with facts: that statistics from the Census Department shows that the average number in an American family is four and one-fifth. We wonder if the one-fifth is father.

Another statement we'll back up is: that if we do the repair work on your car that it won't be done like a schoolboy washes his ears—we'll make a thorough job of it; and when we start on your job we don't waste our time looking for a wrench and then try to find a nut to fit the wrench.

COLMA MERCHANTS DEFEAT THE HALF MOON BAY TEAM

The Colma Merchants traveled to Half Moon Bay last Sunday and won a hard-fought ball game. Crowe followed with a single; Guisto, next man at bat, also singled. Varni, who had three hits to his credit, flew out to center. Bauer got two doubles and a single to bat in four runs for Colma. Crowe also played a bang-up game, handling nine chances at second base without an error. Bob Silvestri also pitched a great game, allowing eight scattered hits and striking out nine Half Moon Bay batsmen. In the last inning Silvestri struck out the three batters to face him to end the game.

CALIFORNIA'S THIRTY-SIXTH MINERAL NAMED SANBORNITE

The thirty-sixth new mineral to be found in California since 1860 has been identified by Professor A. F. Rogers, head of the mineralogy department at Stanford University and has been named Sanbornite in honor of Frank Sanborn, determinative mineralogist of the California Bureau of Mines. Sanbornite is a colorless substance surrounding bright red spots and, according to Professor Rogers, is the first barium silicate to be found in the pure state.

COMPANY NO. SIX WINS COMPETITIVE FIRE DRILL

Company No. 6, newly formed company of the Daly City Fire Department, easily won the competitive drill held on Station street, Sunday, April 10.

Company No. 6 finished the drill in 45 seconds, but due to a slight misunderstanding Company No. 6 was asked to drill a second time and for the satisfaction of all concerned did so, and inasmuch as the boys had practiced so diligently and were trained so carefully the change in the rules did not seriously handicap them. However, it did add 15 seconds to their previous time, thereby completing the second drill in 60 seconds, which time is 25 seconds faster than their closest competitor.

The members of Company No. 6 that took part are August Conci, Leo Kusber, Herman Lorenz, George Volkman, Gino Benedetti, with Fred Bauer as truck driver and A. J. Gaggero as captain.

After the drill everyone was invited to the home of Jack Callan, Assistant Fire Marshal, where in honor of the drill team a short but very enjoyable time was had by all.

ELECTRICITY HEATS UNIFORMS

The traffic officer in frigid communities may hereafter be electrically wired for the job. General Electric Company recently demonstrated an electrically heated uniform and shoes for traffic officer's wear. The officer stands on two metal plates set in the pavement and connected to a 12-volt storage battery. Plates on the officer's shoes make the necessary contact and current is carried through the wired uniform, which promptly heats up and keeps the big stop-and-go man warm and comfortable on the coldest days.

SEEK TO OVERCOME LOSS BY DROWNING

Seeking to overcome the terrific loss of life by drowning each year—8,000 deaths being the 1931 record—Red Cross chapters throughout California, Arizona, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Utah are making preparations to hold life-saving and swimming campaigns during the summer months.

Edwin H. Carroll, assistant national director of First Aid and Life-Saving, in announcing plans for the safety campaign, said nine special life-saving representatives from the Pacific branch office in San Francisco will be at the service of chapters. These experts will act as instructors, teaching the beginners and helping swimmers to improve their stroke.

As swimmers become more proficient they are given instruction in life-saving, thus augmenting the thousands of volunteers who have been trained to render service in any emergency.

Safety for swimmers and the saving of human lives is the primary purpose of the summer campaigns, Mr. Carroll pointed out.

The life-saving and swimming campaigns will be held in pools and rivers as designated by the local Red Cross chapters, each of which will make its own arrangements and be in charge of all registrations.

California chapters that have thus far arranged campaigns are: Pasadena, May 16-28; Calixico, May 23-28; El Centro and Holtville, May 30-June 4; Healdsburg, June 13-18; Redlands June 20-25; Crescent City, July 18-August 6.

Electric energy is measured and sold by the kilowatt hour. In 1931 the average revenue per kilowatt hour in the United States was 2.74 cents. On the P. G. & E. system the average was 2.04 cents—seven-tenths of a cent lower than the national average.

For domestic service the United States average was 5.82 cents. The P. G. & E. average was 4.42 cents, or a cent and four-tenths a kilowatt hour below the average for the country as a whole. To all of which we point with pride and repeat again: "Electricity is cheap in California, cheaper than, on the average, for the whole United States."

Forty foreign countries are now connected with the United States by telephone.

Published in the interests of the People of Daly City and vicinity by H. H. Smith and Employees.

A man went into Cohen's Book Store and said: "Have you Jerome K. Jerome's 'Who's Who and What's What'?"

Cohen: "No, but we have 'Who's He and Vats He got,' by Bradstreet."

"Dead men tell no tales." That is why so many widows find it easy to get another husband.

Even a smart man now and then saws into a nail; but only a fool saws through one.

"What's your little brother crying for?"

"He's not crying for anything. He's had it."

Then Dad Got Mad

"I say, Dad, what keeps us from falling off the earth when we are upside down?"

asked the young man.

"Why, the law of gravity, of course."

"But how did folks stay on before the law was passed?"

Morse: "I feel like a two-year-old."

Horace: "Horse or egg?"

"STERLING" Wall Board, the wall board of satisfaction.

"But don't you find that horesback riding gives one a headache?"

"No, madam. Just the reverse."

"You can't know too much, but you can say too much," remarks "Silent Cal."

A man is known by his friends, a business by its customers. Judge us by ours.

Norton: "Did the noise we made worry your folks when I brought you home last night?"

Pansy: "Oh, no! It was the silence."

Habits are bobs or sinkers. They hold you up or hold you down.

And love makes the world go 'round when the darn thing ought to be asleep.

Teacher: "Samuel, who defeated the Phillistines?"

Samuel: "Aw, I don't know. I don't follow those Bush League teams."
